

Ann Piccirillo

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT - PEOPLE OPERATIONS

Working in consulting was pivotal to prompting Ann to develop her problem-solving skills, and instilled in her a lifelong curiosity and craving to learn.

There is a structure and methodology to unpacking problems—going beneath the surface tension to discover the root cause and solve for that—and this is foundational to being a good leader. As an extension of that experience, Ann has received a specialization certificate from Harvard Business School in Organizational Leadership & Management and is working toward a specialization certificate in Strategy & Execution.

All growth organizations have challenges, and Ann's level of calm, ability to lead people to solutions through coaching and connecting people to purpose are the reasons people seek her out.

BIOGRAPHY

Ann Piccirillo | SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT - PEOPLE OPERATIONS

STANDARD

150 words

Ann Piccirillo is the Senior Vice President - People Operations at JDA TSG. She brings over 15 years' global experience in HR Strategy Execution, M&A, Operational Excellence, Organizational Design and Effectiveness, Employee Resource Group Development, DEI Programs and Strategy and Leadership Development.

As the mother of an autistic daughter, Ann learned from her daughter how to connect with people at a deep level and became a much more caring and empathetic person. Working in consulting prompted Ann to develop her problem-solving skills and instilled in her a craving for learning. Her focus on discovering and addressing a problem's root cause rather than its symptoms forms the core of her leadership style.

Ann, her husband, two children and two dogs live in Leonia, New Jersey. In her spare time, she runs every day, watches old movies and explores New York City every chance she gets.
